

Culture Competencies

1. You can always tell if a patient has cultural differences from you by how he or she looks.
True False
2. Cultural competencies are the skills used to work well with patients of all cultures.
True False
3. A patient's views toward health are affected by culture and other factors
True False
4. When communicating with a patient, it's best to use technical terms and slang.
True False
5. It can help a patient to talk or read about care in his or her preferred language.
True False
6. All human beings express pain the same way.
True False
7. Family members make the best interpreters.
True False
8. Learning about cultural competencies can benefit relationships with other employees.
True False
9. Always discourage patients from using traditional remedies and healers.
True False
10. Different cultures have different ideas about family involvement in patient care.
True False

I have read the booklet "Using Cultural Competencies."

Signature

Date